GENERAL NEWS.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

The Hilton-Seligman Embroglio.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The controversy between Seligman and Hilton has called out much discussion and comment. The Times devotes a column and a half to interviews with prominent merchants throughout the country, particularly in the Western States. The general position taken is decidedly opposed to that of Hilton. Although there are a few hotels in Saratoga where the Jewish custom is openly ignored on grounds similar to those taken by Hilton. Seligman's attorney states in reply to the Times that one hundred Jewish merchants of this city have withdrawn their accounts yesterday from the house of A. T. Stewart & Co., because of the loss of trade which this firm is likely to be the victim of, to the tune of $3,000,000 a year.

Letter from Seligman to Hilton.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The following is the text of Seligman's letter to Hilton, care of A. T. Stewart & Co., New York:

[illegible] my family have for many years patronized the Union Hotel at Saratoga, but were informed yesterday, by your manager that orders had been issued by you to exclude all Jewish families as guests at this season, alleging as the reason for it that there existed a prejudice among [illegible] against people of that persuasion. [illegible] Union to that extent last season. [illegible] headquarters proposed to roust them out, to let them all without exception that all guests except the parlor chambers were engaged. You [illegible] competition with experienced and popular [illegible] managements of certain kinds of wool[illegible] and scores of articles of minor importance [illegible] are succeeded in none, and you [illegible] respectfully volunteer the advice for [illegible] hereafter, although you have [illegible] over $50,000 for advice which was worth [illegible] to save the rest of their [illegible] estate of Stewart, you advertise a [illegible] to sell your merchandise and your [illegible] prejudice and no matter at what [illegible] get rid of them, you will come off [illegible] losing [illegible] by which you [illegible] are only making. Trusting you'll [illegible] of this friendly and disinterested [illegible] dear Judge, yours very truly,

WASHINGTON CITY.

Four Per Cents Payable in Gold Only.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—After consideration by the cabinet to day of a recent letter of Francis O. French, of New York, inquiring as to whether the 4 per cents were payable in gold, a reply was sent by Secretary Sherman that under the laws now in force, there is no coin issued or issuable in which the principal of 4 per cent bonds is redeemable or interest payable, except gold coins of the U. S. standard value fixed by laws in force on the 14th of July, 1870, when the bonds were authorized. The government exacts in exchange for these bonds payment at their face in such gold coin, and it is not to be anticipated that any future legislation of Congress, or any action of any department of the government would sanction or tolerate redemption of the principal of these bonds or payment of interest thereon in coin of less value than the coins authorized by law at the time of the issue of the bonds, being the coin exacted by the government in exchange of the same. The essential element of good faith in preserving equality in value between the coinage in which the government receives and that in which it pays, these bonds will be sacredly observed by the government and people of the United States whatever may be the system of coinage which the general policy of the nation may at any time adopt. This principle is impressed upon the text of the laws of July 14, 1870, under which four per cent bonds are issued and requires in the opinion of the executive department of the government, the redemption of these bonds and payment of their interest in coin of equal value with that which the government receives upon their issue.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Secretary of the Treasury is preparing an official letter which will be published soon for the purpose of removing all doubt regarding his opinion as to the payment of the four per cents in gold. He will make an exhaustive consideration of the question and concur in the opinion of Assistant Secretary French that the bonds are payable in gold only.

Cutting Down the Forces.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The committee of investigation examining the affairs of the bureau of engraving and printing have made their report. Investigations show that the force of the bureau has for many years been in excess of requirements of the work, and this was the case even when the work was greatest. The committee believe the force employed in some divisions was for a number of years twice or three times as great as required. Regarding the policy which led to overcrowding the bureau with needless employees, and in pursuance of which enormous appropriations for the last fiscal year of two million dollars was spent in a little over seven months in printing of public securities, and 1,700 people thrown out of employment, the committee says the causes which have led to this unfortunate result are too lavish appropriations and appointments through political influence. Appropriations have been secured by making appointments for Congressmen without regard to fitness of appointees or necessities of work. Moreover, the bureau has been made to subserve to a great extent the purpose of an alms house or asylum by outside parties. The committee concur in recommending that at least one plate printing on all legal notes, National Bank notes and U. S. bonds be executed by capable, experienced and responsible bank note companies, and that if it should be thought advisable to have a greater number of printings done outside of the bureau a company be permitted to execute one of them upon any obligation. They do not consider the same rule need necessarily apply to the printing of internal revenue stamps, but advise a settled policy of printing public securities. The committee report figures showing a large amount of useless bank note paper which the government has on hand. The ordering of such quantities, in some cases seven times as much as needed, was, in their opinion, a reckless disregard of the government's interest. They regard the organization of the bureau too extended with too many divisions and superintendents. The engraving force also is too large and disproportionate to the rest of the bureau. The portrait engraver is paid too heavily—$6 50 per head, and the committee recommends a suspension of that work for a time, and especially recommend a permanent suspension of engraving and lining men. The detective system is demoralizing in tendency and unlawful, and all special detectives should be discharged. All such work should be done by the government secret service, for which there is an appropriation. The vouchers should be more carefully examined than heretofore, and the mark of the accounting officer be verified, and the Secretary of the Treasury should approve the bills. The bureau, which is the largest and most extensive of any, is anomalous. The chief is neither appointed by the President, nor subject to confirmation, and there is no law specifically authorizing its creation or defining its functions. The attention of Congress is called to it. They close their report with strong terms of disapproval of the bureau's various management, and urge that its abolition and giving of the work to private concerns would be a virtuous and laudable act. Its only duty should be to imprint the printed public securities. The report is signed by E. O. Graves, Edward Wolcott and E. R. Chapman.

Nepotic Ax.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The World's Washington special says Sherman's nepotic ax does not seem to swing with strict impartiality. In addition to other instances noted, there is the case of H. F. French, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and Edmund T. French, his brother, an $1,800 clerk in the Second Comptroller's office, still holding their places. The Secretary's brother in office in Iowa has not been requested to resign.

Sale of Government Lands.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The President today issued a proclamation declaring a public sale of valuable government lands, to be held at the land office at Harrison, Arkansas, Oct. 1st, under the act of Congress, July 4, 1876; reopening to the public the government lands in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, which had previously been subject only to homestead settlement. The lands consist of several hundred thousand acres in Arkansas. No bid less than the government minimum of $1 25 per acre is to be entertained, and any lands not disposed of will be subject to private entry at $1 25 per acre. A similar proclamation will be issued for the sale of lands in the other States named as soon as the necessary lists can be prepared. No public lands have been offered in this way for many years.

Cabinet Conclusion.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The cabinet session was occupied with a discussion of the rules for the government of appointments in the civil service, which will be soon promulgated.

Gen. Ord, commanding in Texas, has been directed to hold for the present the Mexican soldiers taken in that State a few days ago while retreating from the revolutionary forces of Mexico, if their release will lead to an encounter between them and the insurgents, but if they can be released and go to their quarters in Mexico without further trouble, they shall be set free.

The Swiss Mission.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—It is reported that Nicholas Fish, son of ex-Secretary Fish, now Secretary of Legation at Berlin, has been appointed to the Swiss mission.

Postal Printing.

Bids for supplying ordinary official envelopes and dead letter and registered package envelopes for one year from July 1st were opened at the Postoffice Department to-day. There were three bidders—the Morgan Envelope Co., Springfield, Mass., for $41,330 was the lowest, and the award will be made after approval of the buildings and machinery of the lowest bidder.

Bureau of Statistics.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—It is reported that the Secretary of the Treasury among recommendations in his report to Congress concerning the bureau of statistics will be suggestions that it be reduced from a bureau to a division of the department.

Linderman's Views.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Journal's Washington special says: Dr. Linderman, director of the mint, who foresaw the great decline which has taken place in the value of silver, and the practicability of substituting silver coin in place of fractional currency in advance of resumption of specie payments, is understood to entertain the opinion that there will be in the near future a relaxation in the European demand for gold coinage purposes, to an extent sufficient to render an acquisition and accumulation in private hands as well as public treasury of a national stock of gold required for resumption in the United States. Dr. Linderman basis his opinion chiefly on the fact that Great Britain, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium and Scandinavian States are all amply supplied with gold, and that Russia, Austria, Italy and Spain will be compelled for some years to come to adhere to irredeemable paper money, and will not require or be able to procure any considerable quantity of the precious metals.

Administration Party.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Republican League, a new organization in this district, opened its headquarters this evening. Speeches were made by several distinguished persons in support of the President's policy.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Debate in the French Chamber.

VERSAILLES, June 19.—In the chamber of deputies the debate on the interpellation was resumed. The principal speech was made by Leon Renault, former prefect of police, who addressed the House in the name of the Left Centre and all Conservatives who, on the ground of reason had rallied to the republic. In vehement but persuasive language he demonstrated the impossibility of turning backward and restoring the monarchy. The present cabinet would ruin the Marshal as Polignac had ruined Charles X. and simply pave the war for the triumph of Bonapartists.

Count De Choiseull then presented the following order of the day in behalf of the united Left:

WHEREAS, A ministry, formed May 17th, under the presidency of Duke de Broglie, was called to the direction of public affairs contrary to the law of the majority, which is the leading principle of parliamentary government, and has, since assuming office, avoided giving explanations to the national representatives.

WHEREAS, It has upset the administration to crush universal suffrage by all means at its disposal.

WHEREAS, It represents merely a coalition of monarchists, guided by inspirations from clerical party.

WHEREAS, It has allowed attacks on national representatives and incitements to violation of law to pass unpunished.

WHEREAS, On all these grounds it imperils the peace and order and disturbs the business and general interests, therefore the House declares that the ministry does not possess confidence of the nation.

When the reading of the order was concluded there was much cheering. The ministers quitted their seats, and cheering was resumed. The ministers returned. Paris, minister of public works, said the government was indifferent as to any order of the day the chamber might adopt. The country would soon pronounce its decision. Yes, exclaimed Gambetta, the country will choose between us. The order of the day was adopted by a vote of 363 against 153.

The French Election.

VERSAILLES, June 19.—Duke de Broglie has informed the Senatorial committee on dissolution that the proposal that in the election the government would designate the candidate they favored, thus making use of the right which, up to the present, has been recognized by all governments. The Duke also stated that if the Senate voted a dissolution the government would decree it immediately. The Senate adjourned to meet again Wednesday. The debate on dissolution will commence at once, and night sittings be held if necessary.

Debate in English Parliament.

LONDON, June 19.—In the House of Commons to-day Geo. Osborne Morgan, liberal member for Denbighshire, gave notice that in case of the withdrawal of the burial bill by the government he would move on the 17th of July a resolution embodying the rejected clause. After three hours discussion the motion for rejection of the prisons bill was withdrawn. The bill then passed third reading without division amidst cheers.

LONDON, June 19.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Under Secretary for the Foreign Department, in reply to a question by Dilluyn, Liberal, member from Swanza, said it was not true the Porte had refused the request of Layard, British ambassador at Constantinople to permit the neutralization of the Suez canal, for the simple reason that the request has never been made. The Porte has not yet answered the intimation contained in the papers.

The London Stock Exchange.

LONDON, June 19.—The Stock Exchange opened firm to-day, but there has been some relapse in prices, consequent upon the circulation of baseless rumors regarding the attitude of England. A reduction of the Bank of England rate to two and a half per cent. is talked of. The Times says, that rentes should rise with the political conflict in France is surprising to many. It is generally believed the stock is manipulated for political ends by clerical revolutionists. A few operators have only to give notice that they want, within three days stock they previously bought for monthly account and sellers have to bid for it and buy it at any price so as to be able to fulfil the demand.

Bank of Germany.

BERLIN, June 19.—The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows an increase of six and a quarter million marks.

Franco-German Relations.

BERLIN, June 20.—Relative to the statement of Duke De Cazes in the Chamber of Deputies, that M. De Goutant Baron reports favorably on the relations of Germany to the new French cabinet, the National Zeitung observes that the peaceful intentions of Germany hardly needed the testimony of the French ambassador, when a more important question is, what are the intentions of France? Duke De Cazes' attempt to explain away the universal distrust felt towards the reactionary tendencies of Versailles is hopeless. Other journals express similar views.

War must Sustain MacMahon.

BERLIN, June 20.—The Post says the present cabinet of the government of France will probably at first be successful because it commands the army and administration, but no other expedient than war will be available to maintain its rule.

Lucca's Exit.

LONDON, June 20.—It is announced that Pauline Lucca, opera singer, has made her last appearance on the stage in Prague, in Les Hugenots.

There is nothing mean about the Pope. The bulk of $600,000 presented to him by Catholics from all parts of the world he has placed in the Bank of England to the credit of his Pontifical successor, whoever he may happen to be.

He was making a call and they were talking of literature. "The Pilgrim's Progress," she remarked, "always seems to me painful. Of course you have read Bunyan?" He said he had one on each foot, and they troubled him a good deal.

New York Tribune: The difference between Gov Stone and a carpet-bag Governor seems to be that the latter could not enforce the laws, while the former can but will not. The carpet-bagger's case is the better of the two.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

The Turkish Chamber.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 20.—The chamber of deputies has not been prorogued or dissolved. The president has announced to day that the session would close in ten days. The chamber unanimously adopted a motion in favor of a permanent committee to sit during recess. In the course of the debate a Mussulman deputy, alluding to peace rumors, said the government ought only to conclude peace on conditions which would maintain the honor of the Empire.

The Porte Indignant at Servia.

VIENNA, June 20.—The Porte has instructed its representatives at the courts of the great powers to call attention to the conduct of Prince Milan in visiting a sovereign come to invade the terr tory of his sovereign who has lately shown him such magnanimity. The Porte says it had a right to expect different conduct and could not but call attention of the powers to the uncertain and ambiguous attitude of Servia.

Outrages Charged to Russians.

Advices report terrible outrages by the Russians upon the Circassian population of Sobuya. Towns are sacked, women ravished and men banished. A reign of terror prevails. The Russians turned the military hospital at Ordnya and 800 inmates perished.

War Feeling in Greece.

A correspondent at Athens telegraphs that the war feeling is deeper every day, and that there is scarcely any division of public sentiment. The Chamber of Deputies recommended the strengthening of the defences of the ports and mending of further enlistments for the army.

Charge of Incompetency.

LONDON, June 20.—The opinion in the Montenegrin army is very strong against Vukovics, the leader to whom the defense of Duga pass was entrusted. He is charged with utter incapacity. Some battalions received no orders whatever, and after the retreat from Krisanes all cohesion of the army seemed lost.

Monster Gun.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—The Russian government has purchased the monster Krupp gun which was made for the Philadelphia exhibition; destination unknown, but there is talk of placing it on some vessel at Nykalief and using it against Turkish ironclads in the Black Sea.

Loan to Russia.

BERLIN, June 20.—The terms demanded by Mendelsohn & Co. for a loan to Russia have caused serious disappointment at St. Petersburg. The Russian minister of finance is much encouraged for agreeing to their demands. The transaction is reported to have provoked the Czar's personal displeasure.

Outrage on a German.

An outrage upon a German subject is reported from Roumania. The victim, who is named Hanoch, is a merchant of Berlin, and being an accidental acquaintance of Krant, the Russian nobleman reported recently to have been executed, he was seized at Bucharest, imprisoned for twelve years, and treated with the greatest indignity and cruelty. Hanoch has applied in very strong terms to the German chancellor for justice.

Russian Movements.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Tribune's London special says: Advices from Bucharest intimate that the movement of Russian troops has begun. The utmost secrecy is maintained. It now appears that the main body will not cross at Guirgevo, but at some point further up, probably Sistovitza or thereabouts. Three corps are concentrated at Ibraila and one at Kulafa. The latter will probably cross into Servia at Gladova.

Austr an Programme.

The position of Austria is growing better defined now, it being certain an army will be sent to occupy Servia in case that province openly espouses the cause of Russia.

Faith is Lost.

A corresponde it at Constantinople writes that the Sultan had faith in Mehomed and Redif and in the military power of the empire, but that faith has now perished and the saddened sovereign sits all day in the half light of the faded chambers, fretting with aching heart and quivering nerve over the last illusions of his short reign. What now most troubles the ministerial mind is the fear of some outbreak in the capitol. A harmless demonstration of hoseftas a fortnight ago has been visited with great severity upon that body and upon all who were suspected of friendship with Ahmat, who is Redif's scapegoat for all that goes amiss for this severity. The garbling of official war news, the garbling of the newspaper and the reports of reverse after reverse in Asia has produced a ferment in the popular mind which endangers more than anything else the Sultan's throne.

General War Notes.

It is believed Prince Milan will sign the Convention with Russia, allowing her troops to cross the Danube at Gladov.

Suleiman Pasha has left Ntesic and entered Montenegro to effect a junction in Albania.

A division of Montenegrins have abandoned Duga pass and are concentrating at Ostrand pass. Lieut-Gen. Mehemet Pasha has resumed the offensive.

The position of Montenegro is regarded as critical. Seventy thousand Turks are operating against them.

Trustworthy advices from St. Petersburg confirm the reported utter inefficiency of commissaries in Armenia and on the Danube. The Czar is exasperated. The scanty provisioning of troops caused apprehension.

RUTSCHUK, June 20.—The movement of Russians westward from Guirgevo continues.

SEARIA, June 19.—Three Turkish columns which have entered Montenegro are advancing via Ozdrinik to Dersno via the Setta valley to Bopoljevia and via Pavia to Bogetie. At the last place, which is the Montenegrin depot of provisions and ammunition, fighting has been going on since yesterday.

The Turkish headquarters are at Arnodoll.

All Saibe telegraphs from Scutari, June 18th, that he will shortly effect a junction with Suleiman Pasha. In a subsequent telegram he claims that the Turks carried the Heights of Martin (pro bably Martiniji), Gorizwuchia and Yemenich after a three hours' engagement.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 19.—Fuseli Pasha telegraphs from Sukum Kaleh, June 14th, that 13,000 Russians who occupied Mexwilid at Tchambehara, have been driven out by Turkish troops and irregulars. A movement has been undertaken to cut off their retreat.

BELGRADE, June 20.—It is reported that Greece has opened hostilities against the Porte. This is unconfirmed by advices direct from Athens, but is interesting as showing the tension of feeling which exists in Belgrade.

Prince Milan's visit to the Czar occupies all minds.

It is reported that Arch Duke Nicholas said to M. Marinovich before the latter returned to Belgrade that Servia made many great sacrifices and had certain sacred rights which must not be disregarded. It is thought here that a declaration of independence and of war will soon follow.

Minister Ristics and several long conferences with Prince Gortschakoff.

BELGRADE, June 20.—Roumanian papers express the opinion that despite any pacific desire of the Emperor or the Belgrade government, Servia will be drawn into the war when Russian troops enter Bulgaria.

A deputation from Bosnia has arrived in Belgrade on its way to ask the Czar for help.

LONDON, June 20.—The Times states that the contingent, sent by the Khedive, consists of 4,500 infantry, 1,000 cavalry and 5,000 artillery with the necessary cannon. The cavalry and artillery are unprovided with horses. The Khedive also sent 5,000 muskets and 1,000,000 cartridges.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—The Golos says the partial defeat of Montenegrins strengthens and justifies the tendency of Servia to join in the struggle.

RUTSCHUK, June 20.—The Danube continues to fall, although still abnormally high.

LONDON, June 20.—A Vienna letter says: Great uneasiness is felt here relative to the attitude of Servia. Everybody is prepared for occupation if necessary. The participation of Servia in the war, which a short time ago appeared possible to the Vienna cabinet, is now thought probable.

Correspondents report that the Russians are active in the country bounded east and west by the rivers Vede and Aluta. They are concentrating at Simnitza, but the river there has greatly overflowed its banks.

NEVADA.

The Gould & Curry.

VIRGINIA, June 18.—To-day's report from the Gould & Curry mine is the most encouraging that has been given to the public for a long time. Yesterday the pump was withdrawn from the Diamond drill hole of No. 2 crosscut and water allowed to run. It was very hot (120°) and came with a strong flow, but the new pump connecter with the Virginia pump boh, at the foot of the incline, handled it with ease. As soon as the water is drained cross cutting will be resumed. Already the drift for the east ledge has been begun, and the grand problem of whether such a ledge really exists or not will soon be solved.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Indian Murders.

VICTORIA, June 20.—News from the Rocky Mountain camp of the Canadian Pacific Railway, states that the men in charge there have been murdered by Blackfeet Indians. A fourth man escaped and brought the intelligence to Fraser river. There was a large amount of railway supplies at the camp.

A Holiday.

This being the anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne of Great Britain, it is being honored with royal salutes from the ships of war.

Shipping Intelligence.

VICTORIA, June 20.—The steamship California, from Sitka, with the U. S. garrison troops, has passed down for Portland.

The steamship City of Panama sailed at noon to day with a full cargo of Wellington coal and the following Victoria passengers: D. Montgomery, Thomas Ariss, W. F. Thompson, T. W. Henderson, W. Grindley, J. W. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson and 2 children, Mrs. C. G. Corden, Thos. McDermott, Gerald Carpenter, S. G. White, John Green, M. Murphy, A. M. Hess, W. H. Hess.

The Colonist has information that Goodall, Nelson & Co., will shortly put on a line of steamships in opposition to the Pacific Mail Company. The same paper declares that the Province cannot construct the dry dock without assistance from the Imperial government.

WEST INDIES.

The Cuban Troubles.

HAVANA, June 18.—Whilst there appears to be no indications of unity of purpose among the so-called Spanish party, there are indications among individuals that they would gladly make peace with the insurgents upon almost any terms but for Spanish pride, as negotiations must surely result to the disadvantage of the Spaniards, the insurgents are not averse to negotiating peace providing autonomy with sufficient foreign guarantee be concurred in. Sensible Cubans and some Spaniards say they know the dangers surrounding entire independence and would prefer annexation to the United States. When Martinez Campos arrived eight months ago with 30,000 men the pacification of the island was again promised at the end of the winter campaign, but results show the advantages gained were over balanced by disadvantages. The state of the island is no better than it was last year at the same season, and the insurrection is as strong as ever. The only visible advantage gained during the whole winter campaign was less burning of plantations. The treasury of the island is exhausted. Daily publication of the situation of the treasury has been suspended. Last year at this date gold stood at 315, it now stands at 227. Very few Cubans have taken advantage of the amnesty decree. They have no confidence in it. The state of affairs in the island is languid, prostrate and disheartening.

CANADA.

The Canadian Indian Troubles.

MONTREAL, June 19.—All quiet at Oka. Residents of the French-Canadian side of the village have returned to their homes. The Indians are still under arms and have taken possession of the old stone house at Hudson which they have fortified. Sentinels are posted on the leading highways by the provincial police patrol. The Oka chief, Joseph, denies that the Indians fired the church. He will have nothing to do with the Quebec government, and considers the Dominion government the proper authority to settle the difficulties. He will not go back to Oka until the police are withdrawn or Dominion commissioners appointed to investigate the trouble.

Drowned.

GATINEAU MILLS, Quebec, June 19.—Four men belonging to Losies mill were drowned in Aleanan river to-day.

A SINGULAR SUICIDE.

A correspondent at McMinnville furnishes the following particulars of the suicide last Friday of Nathaniel Windom, on Blackhawk Johnson's farm about four miles northwest of this place:

Windom's wife has been down with consumption since last fall, and he has been unable to do anything on account of not being able to hire a nurse or help; consequently the family consisting of four children were in a suffering condition. On Friday morning he went out in search of a wagon in which to go to campmeeting, as he thought it would do his wife good to take her out in the fresh air.

He was gone several hours, and being unsuccessful returned to the house and commenced walking the floor, which he continued to do for some time, when he turned and said to his wife: "I don't propose to stand it; they can't put me in jail; I will leave the country first." He then went and kissed his children and wife and bid them goodbye, telling her to take good care of the children; that the next time she saw him he would be a corpse. His wife clung to him as long as her strength would permit, when he left the room and going to the barn procured a rope and started for the brush. His oldest son, a lad of 11 years, followed his father some distance, when he returned to the house and was sent by his mother to a neighbor's for some one to look after her husband. No assistance could be procured, as everybody in the neighborhood seemed to be away from home. Mr. Windom left the house about 12 o'clock, and about one his brother came and went to look after the man and found him hanging by the neck, dead.

The gallows he had prepared for himself was arranged quite systematically. He selected three small oak grubs at a fence corner; tied the rope around one, laid the slack of the rope over a small limb just above the knot he had tied, laid his hat on another limb, and then, as it appeared, put the rope around his neck and dropped off the fence. Pen cannot describe the horrid picture he presented as he swung there, his feet about a foot from the ground, his large eyes turned upward, mouth wide open, and a ghastly pallor on his face.

He leaves a family in very straitened circumstances. His wife will not probably live a month at the most.

The time is at hand when the young man with only ten cents in his pocket can only trust to lead his girl to the side of the street most remote from ice cream and temptation.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WHEN DOES THE CHARTER EXPIRE?

The discussion in the newspapers of Washington Territory of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company's present and prospective title to the land claimed by it on the line of its branch and other right to earn land on its located lines by construction, has thus far proceeded on the part of the company's enemies

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1877.

NEEDS OVERHAULING.

There are many matters relating to the administration of our State affairs during a number of years past that deserve and will receive the attention of the people prior to the rendition of their next verdict at the ballot-boxes. At this time we present a statement relating to a single matter, which is by no means the most important of the things to be investigated. It is known, we believe, that for a number of years the superintendent of the penitentiary had his partner for a clerk, at a charge to the State treasury of six hundred dollars a year, and an additional charge for rent of the firm's harness shop as the office of the clerk. It has also been stated that the treasury has been charged with bills for fuel and gas for warming and lighting said harness shop and clerk's office. For all this expenditure there has never been warrant of law, and Secretary Chadwick's attention has been repeatedly called to the fact by the press of the State. Yet, notwithstanding, he has continued to audit the claims and draw the warrants therefor, and the Treasurer has paid them. A joint committee of the last legislature reported there was no authority for the appointment of the clerk and his services were not required, and recommended that no such services be further paid for. That report was unanimously adopted. Under it and as an example to his successor, the late superintendent dispensed with his clerk and office rent, and took the penitentiary books to the prison. But the new superintendent has restored the unauthorized office and appointed the old partner as clerk; the books have been carried back to the harness-shop and the old condition of things restored. Near the close of the last quarter, there being some talk of a suit to keep the secretary from issuing a warrant for this illegal salary, he drew a warrant and the clerk took the money before the quarter closed, on the last day instead of on the first of the next, as had always been the custom and as was done with all other claims. This whole proceeding shows an amazing contempt of law on the part of the new superintendent and his clerk, as well as on the part of Secretary Chadwick, under whose direction and sanction the other two evidently act. For the former superintendent some excuse may be claimed that does not now exist, and it should be stated that he obeyed to the letter direction of the legislative assembly. But now the explicit declaration of the assembly is disregarded.

Some one or all three of the persons carrying this matter on are responsible for the return of the money to the treasury, and it is the duty of the prosecuting attorney of the third judicial district to bring suit against one or all of them in behalf of the State. In strictness, too, he should bring suit to recover from the same clerk the sums thus illegally and wrongfully drawn by him from the treasury during the past six years, including the amounts paid his firm for rent, etc., or for so much thereof as may not be barred by the statute of limitations. And if the prosecuting attorney neglects this duty, the grand jury, or the next legislature, may inquire the reason. If there be no other way, some tax-payer may bring the suit.

Journals of Northern California congratulate their section of the State on its comparative exemption from drouth and the consequences of it. But even the counties north of the line of San Francisco do not all promise full crops. In many of them there has been too little rain. But if Northern California has reason to be glad for its more favored circumstances, as compared with other parts of the State, Oregon is fortunate indeed in that it has promise of better crops than even Northern California. When a journal of California speaks of "the barren and almost worthless section" of that State—meaning the southern half of it—it is a sign that the truth is forcing confession and acknowledgment. The Alta deplores "the exodus of immigrants to the Atlantic States." Many who came are returning, and no entreaty will induce them to remain and look further. The general aspect of the State is too forbidding, and they will not believe there is any place to be found where agricultural certainty is the rule. Against the testimony of their own eyes there is no convincing them, and the newspapers of California don't like to tell them of Oregon.

Washington dispatches to the New York Tribune, professing to relate what is going on in administration circles, say it is generally agreed that most of the present office-holders in the Southern States ought to be displaced because they secured the positions they hold "as rewards for their activity in massing the negro vote and keeping up the color line in politics." Is it then so great an offense to have encouraged colored citizens to support the Republican party? The ballot was given these people by the Republican party mainly for the purpose of adding to its strength in the South, and reconstruction was effected by "massing the negro vote." It may be well enough to admit that this was a mistake, but hardly seems just for a Republican administration to punish officials and others for having supported Republican policy.

Since the exportation of meats from America Europe assumed large proportions and began to draw general attention in the British islands, the Edinburg Scotsman has sent over a writer to the United States to examine into and report on the circumstances of American farming and the production of beef and mutton. This writer declares himself surprised to find [illegible] country on a subject deemed of so much importance on the other side of the Atlantic. He says the cattle and beef exported are the choicest lots to be had, but the Americans are rough butchers. The business, he thinks, could be managed to better advantage, and may grow to vastly larger proportions than it has yet reached.

Jealousy on England's part toward Russia seems to have been allayed a good deal by the judicious course of the latter, and especially by her recent official declaration that "so important a maritime passage as the Dardanelles must always be regulated by international agreement," and that "Russia disclaims any intention of acquiring Constantinople." Responding to the changed tone of feeling in England, the London Economist says "it would be a mistake to assume that any steps which Russia may take threatening to English interests must be met by war and war only."

B. B. Connolly, Controller of New York city under the Tweed regime, is one of the most guilty of the thieves of the ring. He fled the country five years ago and still remains in Europe. He levied tribute on all departments of the city's business, and made five millions of dollars for his share. Out of a single dividend of $6,193,057 85 he got twenty per cent., or more than a million. The other thieves are trying to settle, but Connolly holds on to his plunder and never wants to see America again.

THE NEWS FROM IDAHO.

Full information as to the extent of the massacre is yet wanting. At Lewiston it is not yet known how many are killed; and our dispatches from Walla Walla say that other names besides those we have must be added to the list. The disaster to Capt. Perry's command is not so great as first reported, but the news of the repulse, with serious loss, is confirmed. It seems to be the impression that events so far will greatly embolden the Indians. Settlers in all exposed localities now have warning, and there is reason to hope that no further massacres will occur. As to the origin of the outbreak there are different statements. It is now denied that there was any immediate provocation. The result shows that the inhabitants had no apprehensions of danger, and the affair resembles those acts of Indian treachery with which we have so often been made familiar, like the concerted uprising and cruel massacres in different parts of Oregon and at Puget Sound, in 1855.

We know now that the murderers are Joseph's band. It becomes more and more probable that the outbreak is the culmination of the effort to force these and other renegades upon the reservation. It is their answer to the demand of the officers representing the government. Although they had agreed to abandon their claim to certain tracts of country and come in to the reservation, yet they refused at last, as the Modocs refused to quit Lost river, and began to kill in the usual savage fashion. Acting on their passionate and cruel impulses, and with no more foresight of consequences than children, these renegade bands indulge their resentment and think only of revenge. A dispatch says that Gen. Howard and Agent Monteith are censured at Lewiston for the affair. This is the injustice of hasty observation and judgment. In all their actions these officers have been controlled by instructions from Washington. We believe, indeed, and so people generally will conclude, that government has not acted towards these bands with sufficient spirit and decision. Instead of treating with such a worthless handful of savages, and showing so great a desire to consult their wishes, it ought to have taken a firmer stand toward them from the first, and shown an inflexible purpose to make them go to the reservation with the main body of their tribe. For the weak policy that has been pursued Gen. Howard and Agent Monteith are not responsible. Had they desired to proceed differently they would not have been permitted. For years people East, who make the government, as well as government itself, have been afflicted with an incurable sentimentalism on this subject, and the worst that could be said of its officers here is that they may, to some extent, have shared it. Acting under such a policy and in subordination to it, it would be very strange if they should not in some degree fall in with it. In fact this is a necessary condition of their connection with these affairs. Persons who see them endeavoring to carry out the policy of the government are inclined, perhaps, to think them responsible for the policy itself, as well as for all action under it; but this is an unjust conclusion, which, on reflection, will be reversed.

The difficulties of the campaign are sure to be great. In fastnesses of the Salmon river mountains these murderous bands may be able for a long time to elude the pursuit or defy the power of the military forces. A more rugged mountain country will rarely be found. For some months to come the Indians can subsist anywhere. The camas season is at hand, streams are full of salmon, and no protection against weather is necessary. It may not be possible to bring them to terms till winter closes in.

A few days ago we published an account of the movements of a train of religious fanatics who were going from Genoa, Nevada, to Walla Walla, expecting to await at the latter place the second coming of Christ, who, according to a revelation made to them, will be found in the person of a child to be born there. The editor of the Reno Gazette had an interview with one of the companies going on this pilgrimage. Men, women and children had left all behind in the pursuit of an idea. There were old men in the company, and most of them were beyond middle age. All bore unquestioning allegiance to their cherished belief, and were dreaming of the new land and the fabled Redeemer. They are now toiling in their wagons over mountains and deserts under a burning sun, inspired by a faith which others call a delusion; but which is to them the strongest reality of life. An idea of this nature when it is widely disseminated and finds soil in which to grow, becomes the faith of mankind.

We print to-day an important communication relative to the Northern Pacific Railroad and its land grant. The view of the case as set forth in this article is, we believe, substantially the position which the company insists upon as an interpretation of its rights. It is contended that the land will not revert to government until proceedings be had to declare and enforce forfeiture, and that as the law now stands the company has till July 4, 1879, to complete the road. It is a well written article, and should be carefully examined by those interested in the subject.

Sam. Clemens tells, in a letter to John A. McPherson of San Francisco, how he got the name of Mark Twain:

"Mark Twain" was the nom de plume of one Captain Isaiah Sellers, who used to write river news over it for the New Orleans Picayune. He died in 1863, and as he could no longer need that signature, I laid violent hands upon it without asking permission of the [illegible] remains. That is the history of the nom de plume I bear.

Charles Fenno Hoffman, a favorite poet and novelist, and a brilliant member of metropolitan society near thirty years ago, is not dead, as many suppose. He is still an inmate of an insane asylum in the interior of Pennsylvania, having never recovered from the mental disorder which declared itself in 1850, and rendered his confinement necessary.

The Toledo Journal says: We happen to know just what Mr. Morton thinks of Hayes' policy. If he could let a thunder cloud full of forked lightning down with forty-jackass power on Hayes' policy, he would do it quicker'n you could say 'scat.

CITY.

DR. SASSARETH.—This very eminent occultist, who has been sojourning in this city for the past week, has met with a success truly surprising. During his brief stay in Portland Dr. S. has treated 165 cases, and furnished a great number of glasses to persons troubled with defective sight. Many of the prominent ladies and gentlemen of the leading physicians of this city, several of the leading physicians of Portland and their wives have also called and consulted Dr. Sassareth's very superior glasses. All those physicians who have been in the profession" as master in Optics." All persons whose vision is impaired by accident or age should not fail to call and see this very skillful occulist, Dr. Sassareth. He can be found at Rooms 5 and 6 St. Charles hotel, every day from 9 o'clock A. M. to 5 o'clock P. M.

PACIFIC THRESHING MACHINE CO.—Notwithstanding the loss by fire of the shop of the Pacific Threshing Machine Company, a few days ago, the gentlemen composing the company desire the public to understand that the work will go on without interruption, and that the work will go on without interruption. All orders for powers will be filled as heretofore. This company deserves much credit for the business activity and enterprise displayed by them under the discouraging circumstances.

AT HALF MAST.—The flags over the Custom houses and Odd Fellows' Temple were at half mast yesterday, in respect to Chas. V. [illegible] who died yesterday in San Francisco. Deceased was a member of Willamette Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Samaritan Lodge, I. O. O. F. [illegible] here he was agent for the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Co. For over eight years he has been suffering with consumption, and he was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

A SURPRISE.—A number of friends of Mrs. Jennie Bachman presented themselves at the door of her residence last evening. On [illegible] they were at once admitted, and were followed may be surmised. Miss Semple and sister, Mrs. Barman, have been untiring in their efforts to entertain their friends during the past season (in fact, during all of their stay), and the surprise was not to be wondered at.

PASSENGER COMING.—Yesterday the steamer Dakota sailed from San Francisco for Victoria having on board the following persons booked for Portland: D. S. Alexander and wife, Senator Saulsbury, J. R. Jackson, Mrs. Morton and wife, O. T. Morton, George Morton, banker, Senator McMillan and wife, Mrs. Kinsley, D. L. Stephens, Jacob Bower and wife, Mrs. Ellis, and 12 in the steerage.

GOOD JOKE.—One of the candidates for the recent election peddled tickets with the name of his opponent attached thereto. Many of the tickets passed into the ballot box. A gentleman happened to look closely at one ticket presented by the near-sighted candidate. For two hours the defeated candidate carried the bogus tickets. The matter is regarded as a good joke.

OREGON GRAPE SHOOTERS.—The Oregon Grapes, of this city, tendered their services for the Indian campaign east of the mountains to the governor Tuesday. The Governor's Guards did the same thing verbally, through Captain Lister, and on Tuesday evening unanimously reiterated the offer in a formal manner. Answers to both were sent.

RECEPTION.—A large number of persons attended the Unitarian church last evening on the occasion of the reception to the new pastor, Rev. T. L. Eliot. Mr. Eliot was cordially congratulated upon his safe arrival and improved health.

SPECIALS FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.—Our special correspondent is now on the scene of the Indian war, and our readers may expect full reports of the progress of events—and something very soon.

BRIEF NOTES.

The strawberry season is nearly over.

Ben Holladay is on his way overland to the city.

To be an oarsman it is an advantage to be a thin scull.

The masonry work on the new bank is nearly finished.

The Amateur Musical Society was re-organizing last evening.

Wm. Evans, at the Cosmopolitan, has a reputation of being a first-class nurse.

Billy Sweatnam is playing with Emerson's minstrels in Frisco, commencing this week.

"Beethoven sought inspiration in wine," in the country.—Ex. A good many others are doing the same thing.

A large number of ladies attended the performance last evening. And they say "three days" through with extreme satisfaction.

The house lately occupied by L. Wise & Co. is being fitted up for Fleischner, Mayer & Co., who expect to occupy it on the 1st.

Mr. Von Schrader, who has been with De Muralt's party up to the date of the latter's departure for Frisco, returned yesterday from Sound.

Geo. Cohn, who went to Astoria to assuage on the Canby for Tillamook, returned yesterday morning. The tug didn't go, and Geo. is "out" on the trip.

W. S. Caldwell, the very efficient and courteous auditor and clerk, and his deputy R. L. Durham, will accept our thanks for numerous favors.

A woman has queer ideas. She thinks to brave in a man to pick up a cockroach with his fingers, but believes it requires no courage whatever to swear off for three weeks.

Capt. Tom Mountain's Centennial flag was raised recently to the length intended originally. The Captain has gone to San Francisco for the purpose of having a surgical operation performed.

A party of ladies and gentlemen, while out boat riding last evening, "drove to" under a window and sang three songs, which were appreciated. We verily believe Charley Lister is instigated the impromptu serenade.

AMUSEMENTS.

The interest in the latest dramatic novelty now being performed nightly at New Market Theater to large audiences, does not seem to wane. The general belief was to the effect that the entertainment would draw well for three nights. Indications point to the fact that it will run all week with little, if any falling off in the List of Settlers Killed on Salmon River.

Col. Perry Alive, but Lieut. Theller Killed and Lieut. Trimble Missing.

The Engagement at the Foot of White Bird Canyon--Soldiers Driven Back Sixteen Miles.

From the Lewiston Teller.

MOUNT IDAHO, June 20th.

8 P. M.—Sad news to-night, via Florence, from Salmon river. The killed, so far as known, are Dick Devine, Henry Elfres, Bob Bland, Henry Strowbridge, nephew of Elfres, — Osborn, Harry Mason, C. H. Brown, Jack Manuel, Samuel Benedict, James Baker, Pat Price, Victor and Joe Oulds; William George, wounded.

No women and children killed on Salmon river reported yet. Mr. John Chamberlain and child were killed at same time of Norton, wife and other child wounded. Lew Day very low; Joe Moore a severe wound in the hip. Mrs. Norton shot in both legs, not serious. Miss Linn Bowers and Hill Norton were found on the prairie by our pickets not hurt.

Troops arrived to-night. The Indians have left this afternoon, attempting to cross Salmon river. So we think some effort should, in our opinion, be made to check them from Walla Walla, as we think they will go towards Wa own, or that country, and may commit other depredations. They have a large band of horses belonging to people here, so thought, and will be pursued by the people from here. It is Joseph's band, with other renegades. McPherson goes for a doctor. The people are here forted up. Yours, truly,

L. P. BROWN.

MOUNT IDAHO, June 17—9 A. M.

Commanding Officer at Fort Lapwai: Col. Perry, with his command and some of our men, engaged the Indians at White Bird about daylight; were fighting about three hours and were repulsed with heavy loss of men and horses. Col. Perry, when last seen by the men, who have come in, was cut off. He had with him some 20 to 25 men.

We need more help, and any volunteers with arms that can be had should come at once. The Indians had killed, up to yesterday, on Salmon river, 12 men reported; don't know how many more. There is great need of a surgeon; no doctor here, nor none with the troops.

Chapman, in command of the scouts, and who was in the fight, says he thinks some artillery—two mountain howitzers—should be brought up. Some of the men who have returned estimate the loss in killed, wounded and missing at 60 men. Of the volunteers wounded and returned are L. D. Sargent, shot in the leg; H. A. Faxon, in hip. Lew Day is yet alive. We send with this dispatch a line to A. Leland, written last evening, giving the names of killed and wounded. Please furnish him a copy of this for public information.

Since writing this Col. Perry has come in safe, but we hear that Theller and Trimble are missing.

The people are all here, and have a very good fort thrown up. I fear no attack on the town. Very truly, in haste,

L. P. BROWN.

To A. Leland: This was written before we hear that Perry was safe; but as he is in camp, I presume he will send his own dispatch, therefore I send this to you for information. Can you send an extra below from your office and use my name, that all is true that I have written. L. P. BROWN.

June 18th.

William Igo, who brought these letters, says he was a scout on his own hook and was in the fight; that it took place at the foot of the White Bird Canyon, instead of the head; that upon the first fire of the Indians the soldiers broke ranks and retreated, and the officers could not rally them to face the enemy; that the Indians pursued them about 16 miles to J. N. Crooks' lane, firing constantly; that the Indians had better guns and their aim was deacly from the first; that there was about 125 Indians in pursuit well mounted; that after the fight the Indians had a war dance on the prairie; that he, with Keneford, brought dispatches through from Col. Perry to the post; that off the road four miles north of the Board House they were attacked by five Indians just as the moon was going down; that they entrenched themselves behind some rocks and Keneford strengthening their position by firing with his Henry rifle till he fired 75 shots by the declining light of the moon. At day break the Indians fell back, carrying one of their number dead or wounded, upon a horse. They then came on without further molestation. We have before us Gen. Howard's dispatch to Col. Wood, of date June 18th at 11 A. M., giving the number of the command killed and missing at 27, exclusive of Lieut. Theller, who was killed. This differs from Mr. Brown's statement as to the estimate of killed and and missing, although both dispatches came by the same messenger and left at the same time.

A letter from Father Cataldo says the Indians are all quiet on Hangman Creek, though many of the Nez Perces and Palouses are there. Messenger just through in two days. This morning the Almota arrived with 75 more regulars who proceeded directly to the garrison and are to leave there this evening for the scene of action. Volunteers have come from Columbia county, W. T., and more are on the road. The settlers in Paradise valley are stockaded and have sent to town for ammunition. Genesee valley settlers are here with their families. We feel no danger imminent in this section. What effect this victory of the Indians may have upon those now friendly remains to be seen.

The operator at Walla Walla telegraphed at 8:30 last evening (Wednesday):

I received a letter to-day from my brother. He is living on the Alpowa, about 16 miles below Lewiston. He says: The Norton murder was led by Hushhus cut, Chief of the Wa-wa-wi and Palouse Indians, and there are many more killed than reported. He says there was a man stopped at his place, and the man stated an Indian told him Joseph declared he had Indians enough to whip all the soldiers at Lapwai and Walla Walla if they were at one post, let alone two. The people at Lewiston, the man says, blame Howard and Monteith for the whole thing. He gives me the names of many killed not named in the dispatches sent, and the trouble is worse than the OREGONIAN has it. Some things I see in the paper that were not telegraphed. It did not start about a horse trade at all, but was a regular outbreak. No messenger yet.

Gen. Howard sent the following dispatch to Col. Wood, which was received here yesterday:

FORT LAPWAI, June 19th, 9 A. M.

Capt. Perry reports Lieut. Theller, killed in the action of the 17th. Lieut. Rains, with the escort to Mount Idaho last night, and shall collect enough force to make out work before pushing. The final Indian position is reported in the roughest possible country between Little Salmon and Snake rivers. The trails are single and steep through deep canyons.

Mr. J. Loewenberg, of this city, received the following telegram yesterday:

LEWISTON, I. T., June 18th, via WALLA WALLA, W. T., June 20.)

Thirty-two soldiers and thirty citizens killed yesterday. Safe here; send 4,000 Henry rifle cartridges. Lieut. Theller was killed.

Gen. Sprague received a dispatch yesterday from Gov. E. P. Ferry of Washington Territory, which stated that His Excellency had forwarded all available arms and ammunition which could be collected. These munitions were to be forwarded by rail to Kalama, and brought to this city on last evening's boat. This morning they will be sent up the river.

Mr. H. D. Sanborn will start up the river this morning bound for Lewiston. He will take 60 muskets which were obtained from Gov. Chadwick, also 3,000 musket cartridges, 1,000 Henry rifle cartridges, powder, revolver balls, caps, etc. The money which has been so generously subscribed by the citizens of Portland will not be expended for the purchase of arms and ammunition for the present. When Mr. Sanborn reaches Lewiston and ascertains just what arms are required, he will then proceed at once to obtain what is necessary. With the number of guns and ammunition which will arrive at Lewiston in the course of a few days it may be found that there will be no necessity for any more.

FITTING AND RESERVED TESTIMONIAL.

Upon the announcement, made over a month ago, that Gen. Sprague was soon to leave the Northern Pacific railroad and remove to Portland, the employes of the Pacific division resolved to make him a present, as an evidence of their good will and regret at his departure, and of the high esteem in which he was held by all who had been officially connected with him.

All things being ready, the General was induced to come to Kalama on other business on Monday, the 18th inst., and in the evening was captured by all the employes and friends who could be present, headed by Mr. H. M. McCartney, assistant engineer, who in a few well chosen words presented him a set of handsome library furniture together with the sincere good wishes of the donors, for his future success and wellbeing.

Gen. Sprague was completely surprised, and for once seemed to be entirely at a loss for words in which to respond, but recovering himself, made a short reply, thanking the employes for their gift, and briefly reviewing the six years of his connection with the road. He was followed by Colonel Black, the new superintendent, who made a successful apology for having nothing to say.

The company then adjourned to the Fulton House, where the genial host, A. M. Patterson, had provided a bountiful repast, which was duly discussed and pronounced satisfactory. The furniture was procured from the Oregon Furniture Co., and with the exception of the desk was manufactured in Portland.

BISHOP SCOTT GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

CITY EDITOR OREGONIAN:

You very kindly gave the public a report of the examination and closing exercises of the Bishop Scott Grammar School. Will you kindly permit me, not to correct or amend your excellent report, but add to it one word in regard to one of the classes? It was that in the History of Rome. The class was, to be sure, a small one, containing only three boys—F. B. Clifton, P. R. Deady and J. C. Lewis—but to me this was perhaps the most satisfactory class I had. I cannot say that any one of the boys did better than another; they all did remarkably well. What specially pleased me was their grasp of the meaning of that they had learned. History is to them no barren list of dates and facts, but the police of the past which still lives to guide us of the present. These young men have learned to draw instructive parallels between the history of Rome, that of England and that of our own country.

By mentioning my satisfaction with a performance which is an honor to these young gentlemen you will greatly oblige, etc. B.

Dr. Sassareth.

We take pleasure in announcing that Dr. Sassareth, whose wonderful skill in adapting glasses to the eyes of persons suffering from defective vision has so largely been availed of by our citizens and of the vicinity, will be in the city Thursday evening next, when he will positively go to Salem on his way overland. He can be found at the St. Charles Hotel, where he can be consulted from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., Room No. 1.

Reduction in sewing machines. The Singer Manufacturing Company have this day announced a large reduction in prices, as will be seen by referring to our advertising columns. They now offer the new family machine at $50. This places the sewing machine within the reach of all, and we predict that their sales under the new price will be largely increased. They have agents in nearly every county in Oregon and Washington Territory, and still are starting new agents. Portland office, cor. First and Yamhill streets.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1877.

THE LAST WORD.

Creep into thy narrow bed,
Creep, and let no more be said.
Vain thy creed! all stands fast!
Thou thyself must break at last.

Let the long contention cease:
Geese are swans, and swans are geese.
Let them have it how they will;
Thou are tired; best be still.

They out-talked thee, hissed thee, tore thee,
Better men fared thus before thee;
Fired their ringing shot and passed:
Hotly charged—and broke at last.

Charge once more, then, and be dumb!
Let the victors when they come,
When the forts of Folly Fall,
Find thy body by the wall.

MATTHEW ARNOLD.

"ONLY A JOKE."

"A difference of tastes in jokes is a great strain on the affections."—George Eliot.

"I was always fond of a joke," said Uncle Moses Fuller to the friends who had assembled to commemorate the golden wedding of his good wife, Aunt Patty and himself. "But jokes have their proper time and places, and that reminds me of a little story that I will relate to you, young people, while mother is in the other room taking down the old china.

"Some of you are married now, and some of you are likely to be at no distant day—if there is any truth in signs or in hearsay—and none of you will object to receiving a mild lesson from an old man.

"I was always fond of a joke, as I was saying, but I never 'joked' my wife but once, That was after we had been married but a week, and had got nicely to housekeeping. The old minister who had married us and who had known us both all our lives, and his wife, came to make us a call, and Patty urged them to stay to tea. They accepted the invitation so cordially given with evident pleasure.

"As they were our first visitors, Patty wanted to put her best foot forward, of course; so she made hot biscuit for supper. I remember as if it were only yesterday, how pretty she looked in her blue home-made gown, and clean, freshly starched check apron, as she was stepping around in her shy, quiet, womanly way, making the biscuit, looking at and turning them in the tin baker before the open fireplace, setting the table, and pleasantly talking with the guests at the same time; for we had no parlor then.

"I felt quite proud of her I assure you, when we drew our chairs around the neatly spread and bountifully loaded table, and just at the moment I thought more, I fear, of Parson and Mrs. Bancroft's opinion of Patty's cooking and housekeeping than I did of the grace he was saying. Both of our guests praised the light, short, properly browned biscuit, and Patty's girlish face flushed with genuine pleasure as she slyly glanced up at my face for her husband's approval.

"But I did not speak, and presently she asked timidly: 'I hope you like them, Moses for they are the first biscuits I have made since—since—' 'Since you became Mrs. Fuller,' said the Parson's wife, considerately helping out her speech.

"'Oh, yes,' I replied flippantly, thinking it would not do to praise my wife before company, and not relishing the possibility of losing an opportunity of getting off one of my 'jokes,' 'I like them, to be sure; but I should hate to have anybody throw one of them at my head, for the consequences might be serious.' Patty's countenance changed as if she had received a blow; and wife like she tried to throw off her ill concealed mortification at my thoughtless speech. Although I could find no fault with the way she performed her duties as hostess, I noticed she ate very little of the supper.

"Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft started for their home just before dark, and as I was tucking them up in their comfortable old chaise I thought what a happy, contented old couple they were. When I handed the parson the reins, after everything was ready, and they had bidden Patty 'good-night,' and she had gone back through the gate into the yard, he leaned down toward me, and, putting his trembling hand on my shoulder, said: 'My son, bear in mind that pure, burnished gold even may be scratched and defaced by rough usage.'

"I felt like a brute all the time I was getting the cows and milking and doing the chores. When I carried into the kitchen the brimming pails of milk, Patty was washing and polishing and putting away that very china she is now taking down, and I could see in the gathering twilight that she had been crying. I kissed her impulsively with my heart in my throat, and catching the empty water-pail, started for the well. I didn't make any promise to anybody but myself.

"The moon was shining high in the heavens, and as I ran down the bucket, I saw it reflected in the clear water at the bottom of the round, deep well. I felt as if it might be Patty's love going down, down, far beyond my reach, slipping away from me forever. As I drew up the brimming, mossy bucket, the brilliant harvest moon was reflected upon that, too, in broken flashes of light, shining up curiously from the dark depths of the well. I hurriedly drew up the smooth pole, feeling that I was regaining what I had come near losing.

"I set the overflowing bucket down upon the soft, green grass, and let it be until the perturbed water became still and smooth like a mirror. Then looking into it I saw the moon peaceful and calm once more. I emptied the bucket into my pail, and as I did so, I said aloud: 'I will never joke Patty again. She is gentle and sweet and sensitive; far too good for a rough fellow like me. I will never grieve her tender, loving heart by my peculiar kind of joking again.'

"And I have kept my word. We were married fifty years ago to-day, and although I have had my jokes with other people—jokes that they say are 'rather cutting, though Uncle Moses don't mean anything'—I have never joked my wife. She has proved to be unalloyed gold, and, thanks to the good old parson's advice, it has not been defaced or had its lustre dimmed by rough usage. I have never happened to see the moon reflected in the old well without the memory of those supremely unhappy moments coming back to me. Life is short at the best, young people, and you cannot be too careful about wounding the sensibilities of those who are nearest and dearest to you."—Mrs. Annie A. Preston in the Congregationalist.

COLONELS WANTED.

"What Georgia needs," says the Atlanta Constitution, "is more Colonels." That paper proceeds in this way:

We want it distinctly understood before we proceed any further, that we are a friend of the Colonel—that is to say, we are a friend of military Colonels. He may have earned it in the war, right in front of the cannon's mouth, but more peaceful days have dawned upon us, and now we have the insurance Colonel, the sewing machine Colonel, the dry goods Colonel, the commission Colonel, the grocery Colonel, the newspaper Colonel and the lawyer Colonel. You may pick your Colonel from any pile you choose, and we'll stand up promptly and say we admire him. There is honor in the title, and we take pleasure in bestowing it upon friend and foe alike. To be a man and not be a Colonel (unless, indeed, you were promoted during the war) is something preposterous. We can conceive of no such misfortune as that which prevents a man from becoming a Colonel in his own right. There is no law on the statute book against it, and if there were it would be a dead letter. Every county, every community, and every family would cry out against the injustice of an enactment depriving them of their usual quota of Colonels. For our part we think there ought to be a law passed conferring the title of Colonel upon every male child over 12 years of age, without regard to color or previous condition. In that case all men would be Colonels, and the women would be Colonelesses. Here is the true line of progress. While Colonels are in fashion let us make the most of them. Let us utilize them as it were, for the purpose of advancing civilization. It is idle for men who have no titles to sneer at those who have. What would Georgia do without her 100,000 Colonels? Without its Colonels, what a weak and vapid body the legislature would be. Ah, no; let us cling to our Colonels. Instead of weeding them out, let us endeavor to nurture those we have, and invite others through the medium of immigration agents.

It costs $200 to get a license to retail liquors at Astoria for six months, and no license is granted for less than six months.

OREGON.

A branch organization of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California has been started at Salem.

On Tuesday night the Capital Guards voted unanimously to hold themselves in readiness to go to the Indian war, if called on.

W. H. Watkinds, of Salem, has gone to San Francisco to get a stock of leather and saddlery hardware. He will open business in Griswold's block, Salem.

Dr. O. M. Dodson, one of the recent graduates of the Medical Department of the Willamette University, has been appointed as the resident physician of Malheur reservation.

Salem Mercury: The taxpayers of this county will be called upon to pay about $60 costs in the case of the State vs. Lu. Marshall. All the prostitutes can now get their good character 'proved' at the cost of the people.

"Pap" Thatcher, postmaster of Salem, is also a member of the common council of that city, and the Mercury tells him he will have to drop the postoffice pretty soon if he can't let go of the other, or the ex-Confederate postmaster at Washington will be after him with a sharp stick.

The Statesman urges citizens of Salem to come forward and help with their means the Pacific Threshing Machine Co. to rebuild their works which were destroyed by fire last Monday night. Loss is heavy, and cannot be wholly replaced for this season's work. Many machines in course of construction were destroyed and a large quantity of general material. The company is making arrangements to go ahead, and the Statesman says "they can only hope to succeed by their own energies, prompted by offers of assistance at a time when they need it most."

THE TERRITORIES.

Dayton, W. T., has a population of 512. There are 103 families and 142 voters.

A poor insane man, calling himself Captain David Steele, has been wandering about the streets of Seattle and calling repeatedly at business places to inform the proprietors that the government was about to alter the numbers of its greenbacks, and to inform them how they might avoid losing heavily by this "put up job."

A terrible affray occurred at Idaho City on June 10th, between McGuirness and a number of Chinamen. The difficulty arose about some mining operations and the right of dump, which both parties claimed. The disputants were all armed with revolvers, knives and shotguns. McGuirness was killed and his body fearfully mutilated. He received six cuts, five of which were fatal. Three of the Mongolians were arrested for murder and will be held to await the action of the grand jury. The unfortunate man killed one of his assailants and wounded two others.

Walla Walla Union: The rush to the upper districts of this and Columbia county still continues, and the unclaimed lands in Whitman county are much sought after. Many of these claims are located upon lands that have no running water upon them; but in most instances water can be obtained by digging from 12 to 25 feet. The water as a general thing is good everywhere; there is scarcely an exception. Many of the dry hills between Touchet and Dry Creek are now settled by thrifty farmers who are making their marks on the steep hill sides in the shape of good growing crops.

At Colfax, W. T., in the new country to which there is a rush of settlers, court was held recently in a school house; the office used by the county auditor and clerk of the court was converted into a grand jury room, and while that body was in session those officers had to "go out in the open." When a petit jury was sent out to cogitate upon a case, the bailiff in charge would take them to some shady sequestered nook, where politely seating the jurors upon the grass and providing a piece of soft pine for each one, he would retire a little distance and "watch out," until the jury had concluded upon a verdict.

A TRIFLE.

They loved and laughed, they kissed and chaffed,
And threw the happy hours away;
That's the way the world goes round—
That's the story of Yesterday.

They talk of fate, and calculate,
And keep accounts, and measure, and weigh:
That's the way the world goes round—
That's the story of To day.

They'll see on high in yonder sky
The God whose power destroyeth sorrow:
That's the way the world goes round—
That's the story of To morrow.

John Motley, the late John Lothrop Motley's great-grandfather, came from Belfast, Ireland, to Falmouth—now Portland—in Maine, and there worked at his trade as a joiner. An uncle of the historian's, Charles Motley, now lives in Deering, and is 91 years old.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, June 20, 1877.

Gold in New York, 105¾.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 94; selling, 95.

Silver Coin—4¼@5 per cent. discount.

The usual amount of business is being done in local monetary circles without any important or extraordinary transactions or incidents to note. The fishing and wool interests are making some requirements on the market, but the supply of available funds is apparently undiminished. In some quarters a disposition to a conservative policy to meet expected increased demands when the harvest begins is manifested, and preparations are such that they leave it quite certain that business in that line will open with a good deal of activity and be well sustained. The financial situation for this is rather more promising than at the beginning of any season since the extensive export of breadstuffs from the State was inaugurated.

In San Francisco the same full supply of available funds is reported, but the applications upon note or mortgage are rather restricted under the inactive condition of trade in general; however, more life has been infused into all departments of trade within the past week, and the outlook appears to be more promising for the future. Rates in bank are 10@12 per cent. per annum, and in savings banks, on bond collateral and mortgage, the range is from 7 to 10 per cent.

The coinage at the San Francisco mint for the fiscal year ending with this month was the largest for any one year since its establishment, amounting to $46,101,500, of which $32,552,600 was in gold and $13,549,000 in silver. To produce this amount it required 60 tons of gold and 393 tons of silver.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Merchandise markets remain dull. Flour—there were rather more export inquiry for all grades. Shipping weaker. Prices for wheat better for export demand and the market closed active at 1@2c higher. Wool continues to sell well, full prices. Hops quiet and prices weak.

Philadelphia Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Wool firmer, with slightly upward tendency; the market is bare; new clip sells fast as it arrives. Colorado washed, 22@25c; unwashed, 18@22c; extra and merino pulled, 35@37c; No. 1 and super pulled, 35@37c; Texas fine and medium, 18@25c; coarse, 16@25c; California fine and medium, 28@33c; coarse, 20@25c.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, June 19.—Breadstuffs easier. Corn, 23s 9d@24s for new mixed Western; flour, 26s 2d; wheat, for average California white, 12s 4d@12s 9d for club; 11s 11d for red Western spring. Receipts the past three days 21,000 quarters; American, 14,000.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and incessant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish.

JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor consisting the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and mucuntory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly,
JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.
